FABRIC TECHNOLOGY

HYDROLOGY®

Hydrology® is defined as the science of dealing with the properties, distribution and circulation of water. At ASICS, we apply this philosophy to the management and evaporation of sweat. The quick distribution of moisture away from the skin keeps the body dry, comfortable and better able to regulate temperature. Fabric absorbs sweat from the skin, then transfers it to the fabric surface where it can evaporate rapidly. Hydrology® fabrics are constructed to provide breathability and air circulation through the knit or woven structures.

STORM SHELTER®

The addition of wind and water protection to our Hydrology® and Thermopolis® technologies defines this category. Inclement weather requires additional protection – all-around protection that covers all the elements. Storm Shelter® provides protection from wind and all forms of precipitation. Its composition conquers the elements through construction, bonding and laminating. Fabrics are soft, lightweight, and quiet, ensuring comfort and performance throughout your activity.

COOL ZONE™ TECHNOLOGY

Cool Zone™ Technology allows moisture to quickly disperse from the skin to the surface of the fabric. The blend of crystalline alkanes in the fabric keeps the body temperature several degrees cooler to reduce the health risks associated with overheating. Cool Zone™ Technology has been extensively tested and proven effective even in temperatures that exceed 130° F. With the body-cooling benefits of Cool Zone™ Technology in our fabric, your comfort and performance can be greatly enhanced during any sport.

QUICK DRY

Quick Dry is fabric technology that moves moisture away from the skin, allowing it to dry quickly and keep the wearer extremely comfortable in a wide variety of temperatures, activities, or conditions. The special 100% polyester blend offers the perfect balance of wind resistance, evaporation, breathability, insulation and ventilation. This soft, lightweight, and ultra-cool fabric also provides UV protection with a UPF rating of 20/30+, making it perfect for warm weather and intense workouts.

COMPRESSION

Nylon and spandex are combined to create a close-fitting, comfortable, moisture-wicking garment. The high tenacity stretch provides muscles with a firm compression that reduces muscle vibration, allowing you to increase leg strength and endurance. The compression fabrics' open knit construction creates an effective moisture transfer environment to keep you cooler, more energized, and able to perform at a maximum level for a longer duration. There is also a special anti-odor feature within the fabric.
